GROUP 1: GLADES SUGAR HOUSE (SUGAR CANE GROWERS COOPERATIVE OF FLORIDA MILL)

The Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative owns and operates one of largest sugar mills in the world. Operating 24-hours a day, this state-of-the-art processor produces raw sugar crystals and blackstrap molasses. Additionally, the processor utilizes the processed waste as a fuel source conserving more than 31 million gallons of fuel oil each year, which is the equivalent of powering 79,000 households per year. Members will examine how this facility helps drive the local/regional economy while simultaneously conserving critical natural resources.

GROUP 2: FLORIDA CRYSTALS RICE MILL

Florida Crystals owns and operates the only rice mill in Florida. Everglades Agricultural Area farmers produced over 120 million pounds of rice in 2017, utilizing over 30,000 acres of farmland. That equates to enough rice to feed over four million people for a year.

10:30 am to 11:15 am

GROUP 1: PIONEER PACKINGHOUSE

For more than 65 years Pioneer Growers has been known for quality, service, and food safety excellence. In 2012, Pioneer expanded again in partnership with Hundley Farms to build a state-of-the-art corn packing line. They can pack over 25,000 crates a day to the highest standards in the industry. Today, Pioneer Growers is one of the largest distributors of sweet corn in the world, growing over 13,000 acres annually in addition to growing more than 6,000 acres of green beans, radishes, celery and cabbage. Through this visit, members will get a close-up look at our nation's food supply chain and discuss the necessary investments in infrastructure to deliver food from the farm to the table.

GROUP 2: GLADES LAKE REGION WATER TREATMENT PLANT

The Palm Beach County Water Utilities Department (WUD) constructed this $60 million Water Treatment Plant No. 11 (WTP 11) in 2008. WTP 11 was constructed in response to water shortages and water quality issues that resulted in the need to develop a new potable water source for the citizens of the cities of Belle Glades, Pahokee and South Bay. Members will discuss the regional demands on water resources and examine programs aimed at helping counties provide similar services in rural communities.

to 12:30 pm

LUNCH

Everglades Research and Education Center

The EREC is an agricultural and environmental research and education unit of the University of Florida's, Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS). Authorized in the farm bill, programs such as the Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP), Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP), Conservation Security Program (CSP), and others are important sources for technical assistance and are needed to help communities implement many important conservation measures. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has many programs that can help farmers and other landowners undertake water and conservation efforts on agricultural lands. This panel will examine how local farmers are utilizing farm bill conservation programs to retain, protect, and improve agricultural land, and conserve topsoil, consistent with local land use policies and controls.

Currently serving an average of 42 million recipients a month, SNAP is an important program that offers nutrition assistance to millions of eligible, low-income individuals and families. In addition, SNAP has proven to be one of the most effective federal programs because benefits can reach families quickly during economic downturns as well as natural disasters. During this session, we are joined by local, state and federal representatives that will discuss the current state-of-play of the SNAP program, and what can be expected as we move towards the reauthorization of the program this fall.
