

Probation Landscape Web Tool

NACo – in collaboration with The Pew Charitable Trusts (Pew) – developed this resource to categorize the national landscape for probation. This tool can be utilized to better understand the probation operating model of different states.

Category Key

State: States under this policy category operate probation/community supervision at the state level.

County: States under this policy category operate county-managed probation/community supervision.

Mixed: States under this policy category operated a mixed-responsibility management system. This model traditionally has state-managed felony supervision and county-managed misdemeanor supervision.

Other: States under this policy category operate a supervision system that is not accurately represented by the previous categories. For example, a state may have probation that is managed by judicial districts or multi-county regions.
