About the CFPB

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau regulates the offering and provision of consumer financial products and services under the Federal consumer financial laws, and educates and empowers consumers to make better informed financial decisions.
Office for Older Americans

The Bureau’s Office for Older Americans works to improve financial security for older consumers. The Office creates resources to help older adults, those that serve them, and their financial caregivers.

What we do:

▪ We lead initiatives to help protect older people from financial harm.
▪ We create tools and resources to support sound financial decision-making that safeguards later-life economic security.
▪ We offer a variety of resources that you can use or view online, download, or order in bulk, all for free.

Elder Fraud Prevention and Response Networks

Office of Financial Protection for Older Americans
What is a network?

A sustained, and largely voluntary, collaborative effort or partnership that works to prevent, detect, and/or respond to elder financial exploitation.
2016 Study Recommendations

- Elder abuse networks that do not focus on financial exploitation should develop activities and the capacity to respond to elder financial exploitation.

- Networks should seek to engage financial institutions, community-based organizations such as faith organizations and others that serve these communities.
Recommendations Con’t

- Develop Networks in areas with older Americans of diverse linguistic, ethnic and racial backgrounds should seek to engage stakeholders that serve these populations, and deliver educational and case review services relevant and appropriate to these populations.
Expanding Networks across the Nation

- In 2017, the Bureau launched a pilot convening program to expand the presence of Elder Fraud Prevention and Response Networks (EFPRNs) and the capacity of existing networks.
- As a result of these convenings, OA developed a model for identifying potential networks, coordinating with key stakeholders, facilitating meetings, and garnering support to help initiate and enhance local EFPRNs.

Birth of a Network

- The happy meeting of a sponsor (CFPB) and a passionate group of elder advocates
- Buy-in from advocacy organizations (Law Enforcement, APS, ADRC, private Elder Law attorneys, etc.)
- Offer relevant free trainings and workshops
Finding Good Members

- Use existing members to invite other colleagues
- Free trainings to fuel the fire and advertise the Network
- Invite “outside” experts to give presentations, then invite them to join
- Give presentations to related groups

The number of members isn’t as important as their passion and commitment.
Role of the Facilitator

- Fuel the Flame: Let members share their passions and what their organizations can offer.
- Find the Gaps: Members can also share where they are finding obstacles. Let the group discuss possible solutions.
- Turn Discussion into Action: Groups that only meet and talk quickly become frustrating for people who work for change. Create goals and encourage action.
- Be a Gentle Reminder: Passionate people are typically busy people. Help them help by reminding them of details, meeting dates, suggested ways to proceed.
- It’s Not About You: This is about the community. You can’t control this, only guide it.
Recognizing Opportunities

Goals are good, but opportunities often arise without regard to your agenda

- Examples:
  - Injunction Against Exploitation of Vulnerable Adults
  - Abuse in Later Life Grant through Office on Violence Against Women
  - Workshop: Barriers to APS Investigations
  - Statewide conference on Stopping Financial Exploitation with multi-disciplinary speakers
  - Training: Anatomy of an Elder Abuse Case
  - Healthcare Surrogate Workgroup: Solo Seniors
Statewide Conference

- Keynote Speaker: David Brancaccio from NPR
- State Legislators
- Research Panel on the Brain Science of Exploitation
- 145 in attendance from across Florida
Injunction Against Exploitation of Vulnerable Adults

- Modeled on domestic violence injunctions
- Tied to Florida’s criminal definitions of "exploitation"
- Allows pro se petitioner to seek freeze of impacted accounts for 15 days without initial notice to the respondent - stops the “bleed”
- Network has provided trainings, handbook and is monitoring use
Healthcare Surrogate Workgroup

- Solo Seniors
- Currently developing a pilot project to study and help develop resources for seniors who have no trusted person to assist with decision-making.
- The lack of individuals able and willing to act as fiduciaries for either financial or healthcare decisions is problematic.
- Older adults are relying on people who abuse their fiduciary responsibilities, leading to guardianships that could have been avoided.

Connect your community's efforts to prevent and respond to elder financial exploitation

Use our resources to help you build an elder fraud prevention and response network
Resources to build an elder fraud prevention and response network

Mobilize key stakeholders in your community to prevent, detect, and respond to elder financial abuse.

Elder financial exploitation threatens the financial security of millions of older Americans annually. In response to this crisis, hundreds of communities across the United States have created collaborative networks to protect their older residents.

Launch a successful network: use our meeting model

Our meeting model includes two key meetings—a retreat and a post-retreat—to help you bring stakeholders together to increase and enhance the prevention of and response to elder financial exploitation.

Plan a retreat

A retreat is an effective way to rally stakeholders and community leaders together to create a collaborative network. Gather a core team of key community members to help you plan logistics and reach out to the wider community.

See retreat planning resources

Host a retreat

How you conduct a retreat can set the tone for your network. Here are some suggestions on how to provide opportunities for collaboration and make sure everyone’s voice is heard during a retreat.

Learn how to host a retreat

Reconvene and establish your network

After holding a retreat, it’s important to bring community stakeholders back together to determine next steps toward addressing priorities identified at the retreat.

Establish your network

Expand network capabilities

After your network establishes priorities, consider leveraging working groups to reach goals, engage the community, and grow the influence of the network.

Consider your next steps
