SYMPOSIUM KICK-OFF: CONNECTING THE UNCONNECTED

In conjunction with his NACo presidency in 2018-2019, San Diego County Supervisor Greg Cox has launched an initiative that brings focus to how counties “Connect the Unconnected” throughout America’s communities. During this opening plenary session, Supervisor Cox and other LUCC leaders will begin conversations around the theme of “Connecting the Unconnected” that will continue throughout the Symposium.

PLENARY SESSION: THE FISCAL IMPERATIVE OF PUBLIC HEALTH

County leaders can attest that “an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,” and this maxim is perhaps most relevant in efforts related to public health and disease prevention. During this plenary session, national experts and county leaders will discuss the community and budgetary threats posed by disease outbreaks and explore how urban counties can mitigate these threats by proactively connecting residents to preventive services.

10:45 am – 12:00 pm

PLENARY SESSION: THE GRIP OF GANGS ON DISCONNECTED YOUTH

It is estimated that nearly 1.5 million individuals across the country are involved in gangs. While law enforcement efforts are critical to containing the scourge of gang activity on local communities, “upstream” efforts focused on connecting disconnected youth to educational and employment opportunities are likely to prove more effective. This plenary session will explore the ways urban counties can serve as connectors of at-risk youth to productive opportunities.

12:15 pm – 1:30 pm

PLENARY LUNCHEON: SPOTLIGHT ON DATA AND TECHNOLOGY

In most of America’s urban counties, local agencies have embraced the power of data, implementing evidence-based and data-driven decision making into their daily operations.

Without proper analysis and execution, however, data-driven policies fall short of their potential, and in some cases perpetuate the very issues they aim to address. This plenary session will explore how urban counties can harness the power of data and technology to improve outcomes for all members of their communities.

2:00 pm – 3:30 pm

CONCURRENT ROUNDTABLE BREAKOUT SESSIONS
